WALDEN'S WORDS

A Fond Farewell

Dear Holman Family and Friends,

It is with a full heart that I write my final pastoral letter to you. My last day as the Senior Pastor of Holman UMC will be February 29, 2024. As I reflect on our time together, my heart is encouraged knowing that Holman UMC is stronger now than when we began our journey together in 2020.

We have accomplished much together. For me, some of the highlights have been:

- 1) Returning to in-person worship after 18-months of virtual-only worship services due to the Covid-19 pandemic
- 2) Increasing our YouTube subscribers from 65 to roughly 700
- Expanded strategic relationships with community partners such as STAND-L.A., USC, LA County's Community Emergency Response Team (CERT), CYFC, the Greater Los Angles Homeless Count, Ignited Light, and the offices of Councilwoman Heather Hutt and Supervisor Holly Mitchell;
- 4) Completed renovation of the Education Building
- 5) Starting and completing significant repairs to the nursery and in the women's restroom in the sanctuary
- 6) Led by the Mortgage Reduction Task Force, exceeding our goal of reducing the mortgage
- 7) 100% of our apportionments

To allow the flexibility needed during this season of my life to care for my Mom as she suffers with Stage 4 breast cancer, I accepted a mostly remote faculty and administrative position with the new online School of Religion at Hampton University.

As I depart, I ask that you support Rev. Christian Washington, your interim senior pastor, and the new senior pastor who will follow him. My wife, Michelle, and I will continue to give prayerful support to Holman UMC as we believe Holman UMC's future is bright and full of God's grace and mercy. We love you and we are so proud to have served alongside you!

Grace and Peace Rev. Dr. Ken J. Walden Senior Pastor

A Time of Farewell and Appreciation for Rev. Dr. Ken J. Walden and Mrs. Michelle Walden

The members and friends of Holman United Methodist Church extend our gratitude and appreciation to Rev. Dr. Ken J. Walden and Mrs. Michelle Walden for the love and support they shared with us as Senior Pastor and First Lady of our congregation.

We thank God for cherished memories of their expressions of generosity and kindness, gestures of compassion and encouragement, and times of guidance and leadership.

We pray that they will be granted wisdom, strength, and abundant grace as they move with confidence in a new direction, offering their gifts and talents to work and serve faithfully through Jesus Christ Our Lord.

As we bid Rev. and Mrs. Walden farewell, we trust that God's blessings will be upon them across every step of their journey.

May God's name be praised for the time we have shared and the promise of success in the days ahead.

A special reception has been planned in honor of Ken and Michelle. You are cordially invited to join them in L.L. White Hall for a time of fellowship immediately following each worship service at 9:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. on Sunday, February 18, 2024.

LA OPERA Comes to Holman

Sunday, Feb. 18th, during the 11am service, tenor Rodrick Dixon from LA Opera, will be our guest soloist. Mr. Dickson currently has the lead role in one of two one act operas, The Dwarf (Der Zwerg), which opens this month, Saturday, Feb. 24th - March 17th, at the Dorothy Chandler Pavillion. Some may remember him as one of the original Three Mo' Tenors. He is also the cousin of Holman member, Yolanda Mitchell West.

LA Opera is offering Holman a 30% discount off admission using code: STAGE30 to attend the two one act operas: Highway 1, USA (All Black cast), William Grant Still, composer / The Dwarf (Der Zwerg), James Zemlinsky, composer. Performances begin on Saturday, Feb. 24 and run through Sunday, March 17, 2024. Use the code STAGE30 or click the following link that will apply the code directly in the purchase path: Highway 1, USA/Dwarf

A Historic LA Premiere: Highway 1, USA

First up is the uplifting Highway 1, USA by trailblazer William Grant Still, hailed as "the Dean of African-American Composers." Norman Garrett and Nicole Heaston star as a hardworking Black couple determined to build a better life, whose years of sacrifice turn out to be misguided. Chaz'men Williams-Ali portrays the ne'er-do-well brother who squanders every opportunity granted to him. This new staging (only the second-ever professional production of this heartwarming opera) is helmed by visionary director Kaneza Schaal and production designer Christopher Myers, reuniting after their work on our stunning 2022 production of Omar.

An Impossible Romance: The Dwarf

Next up is a gothic tale of one-sided love in a decadent Spanish court. Tenor Rodrick Dix-on stars in the title role opposite audience favorites Erica Petrocelli and Kristinn Sigmundsson as we present Alexander Zemlinsky's The Dwarf. Last staged at LA Opera in 2008 to critical acclaim, Oscar Wilde's fable is brought to life through a lush and romantic score. Tony-winning director Darko Tresnjak conjures a royally opulent production, with costumes from fellow Tony Award winner Linda Cho.

Welecome Rev. Christian Washington Interim Senior Pastor

On March 1, Holman welcomes the Rev. Christian Washington as its interim senior pastor. Affable and well-read, "Pastor Christian" brings a solid theological background and impressive body of work as a marketing consultant in both corporate circles and faith-based communities. He will remain with us through June, working closely with Holman UMC leaders, Bishop Escobedo-Frank and D.S. Tu'itahi, and former Holman associate pastor and current Call-Pac change manager, Rev. Victor Cyrus-Franklin.

Ministry is a second career for Pastor Christian, a former lead facilitator at The Wildworks Group in Dallas, a boutique management consulting practice that employed the accelerated solutions method originated by M.G. Taylor. While at Wildworks, Rev. Washington designed collaborative solutions interventions with global corporations and nonprofits including Clear Channel Communications, Neiman Marcus, Airlines Reporting Corporation, World Vision, Bell Canada, Grady Hospital, and the United Methodist Church.

In 2004, Rev. Washington started REAL Coaching, Incorporated as the first "rapid solutions" consulting practice that focuses on faith-based and non-profit organizations. He has published extensively on innovative organizational development, the theology of "significance," and personal and corporate philanthropy. Washington also collaborated with Dr. Rudy Rasmus on his book TOUCH: Pressing Against the Wounds of a Broken World, published by Thomas Nelson.

Pastor Christian, a native of Los Angeles, studied Theology at Princeton Theological Seminary; Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at Cornell University; and management science at the University of California, San Diego. He is a Licensed Local Pastor with the United Methodist Church, and a Fellow of the Loyola University Institute of Politics. He has served several advisory boards including Fellowship Monrovia, The Greatest Story, and Outreach Magazine. When he is not doing the work that he loves, Christian enjoys travel, hiking, tennis, live music and cheering on his hometown sports teams the Lakers, Dodgers, and USC Trojans.

Get to know our interim pastor by reading his though-provoking meditation, "My mother always 'whispered' the words 'white people' even when no white people were around," reprinted on the following pages.

Source of biographical information: Real Coaching Incorporated, https://realcoaching.net

My mother always "whispered" the words "white people" even when no white people were around

My mother always "whispered" the words "white people" even when no white people were around

My mother's life was created and formed in the Jim Crow segregation of rural Texas

She was educated in Cuero's colored "school house"

- She was raised to fear and obey "Mr. Charlie" whom she later called "Chuck"
- Having seen the legal and violent consequences of "stepping out of place" up close
- She attended the colored college in the State Capital city but dropped out when a young soldier's marriage proposal included California relocation
- "California is the place you outta be... Swimming pools, movie stars, beaches, hope"

California would be separate BUT equal for sure... right?

Better weather and paved sidewalks only masked the truth

Jim Crow had relatives in Los Angeles too

- As twin tribulations moved in next door
- Fear of her husband dying in Korea
- And the soul crushing reality of her infertility

Starting a family would have to happen another way

Multiple Foster and Adoption days brought hope into her fearful world As Civil Rights confrontations were caught on tape

Martin, John, Malcom, and Bobby prove NO ONE is safe

My mother always "whispered" the words "white people" even when no white people were around

350 years late arrives blood stained legislation
National Guard protected integrations
The allusion of police protection
"Black is Beautiful" and "I am Somebody" declarations
But "the talk" was still a necessity in this generation
Making the connection between "not appearing to be a threat"
And making it home alive after a traffic stop or arrest
The rules she taught me were not new Hands at 10 and 2
"Yes sir" when spoken to
Appearing a little afraid can help too

Proper English and no slang or sass Show any frustration and they will beat yo ass Make the officer feel superior and he might let you pass Do whatever you are instructed to do without hesitation Answer every question and submit to every test The ONLY thing that matters is making it home alive after a traffic stop or arrest

My mother always "whispered" the words "white people" even when no white people were around

And she was determined to see her children survive

Her greatest aspiration for me was never college or a profession

A high school diploma and no criminal record were all she could "say grace over"

To that end she set about teaching me to reverence whiteness And to never challenge its authority

Speak like them on command

Respect their version of American History

View their way of life as superior

View their institutions as superior

View them as superior, the standard to be judged by, and the judges To survive you must assimilate

Imitate them to increase your chances of making it home everyday And always watch what you say

You can never afford to step out of your place

You never know who is listening

You never know the allegiances of the person you are talking too You never know who might be seeing you

The survival rules mom's elders taught her were passed down to me as an inheritance

"Violate them at your peril" she would say as punctuation

My mother always "whispered" the words "white people" even when no white people were around

She sent me into a world she didn't trust or understand fearing for my life every day

Through college (I never told her about my experiences with police by the way)

Through my moving to the South she once fled

Through "Blackness" becoming mainstream and profitable space Finally a "glimmer of light on our dark race" she would say But the triumph of the "MJ's" and "Cosby's" would soon be replaced By the brokenness of Rodney King's spirit, body, and face The exonerated cops who were caught on tape Civil Rights legislation nullified

Justice expectations erased in the time it takes to say "not guilty" The ensuing riots became the unheard voice of the perpetually unheard

Confirming my mothers worse fears

Black legal justice on white legal paper, signed in Black Ink by White people

Can never protect her tall, dark and unmistakably Black son in this White world

My mother always "whispered" the words "white people" even when no white people were around

By 2008 her light and health began to fade

Her perception of time and reality vacillating between her distant past and current moment

Near the end, her childhood would say "They will never let a black man become Commander-in-Chief"

"They assassinate Presidents and King's in this country you know" She was bed ridden by now but the November election was something worth fighting off death to see

On election night in a moment of presence and overwhelming pride she said, "I never thought I would live to see a this day... I never dared to imagine the election of a black president. It's a miracle."

Those were the last coherent words I remember from her

But somewhere deep inside she fought to live on a little while longer I believe she needed to see Obama actually sworn in to know it wasn't just a dream

She needed to witness the moment when White people "allowed" this miracle to happen

Only then would she take her rest

Dorothy Washington received her heavenly reward 10 days after the inauguration of the 44th President of the United States

She entered her heavenly home praying and hoping to not see brother Barack or her son "Buddy" anytime soon

My mother always "whispered" the words "white people" even when no white people were around

Lent begins on Wednesday, February 14, and ends Maundy Thursday, March 28, the night of Jesus's arrest and conviction. We honor this holy season through traditional practices such as fasting (perhaps relinquishing a habit or taking on a new discipline), prayer, meditation and study.

This year's Lenten Book Study is Tarry Awhile: Wisdom from Black Spirituality for People of Faith by British theologian Selina Stone. Read more about Stone, here. Join Lenten Book Study and keep abreast of Holman Lenten activities by contacting:

Lent at Holman by Jennifer Hightower

What Is Lent?

eginning on Ash Wednesday and ending Holy Saturday, Lent is a time for us as Christians to prepare for Easter through fasting, prayer, and the repentance of our sins. During this time we also celebrate the Holy Week, which is the week beginning with Palm Sunday that commemorates Jesus' trial, death, burial, and resurrection. Many fast the 40 days leading up to Easter to replicate the 40 days Jesus journeyed through the desert before Palm Sunday. This has typically been a time that many have drawn themselves closer to God through daily or weekly devotionals. But what does this mean to us as followers of Jesus Christ?

fasting in the wilderness for 40 days and bers of the Christian African American 40 nights. During this time his spirit was community, we at Holman not only have greatly tempted by the devil, but each a Seder meal to honor the redemption time he was tempted, he refused to turn from the bondage of sin through Jesus' his heart away from God. Throughout sacrifice of life, but also to celebrate our life, we are faced with many temptations ancestor's redemption from the bondage that can threaten our closeness with of slavery in America as well. A Seder God. Lent serves as a reminder to us all plate includes six food items (bitter that even Jesus was tempted, but be- herbs, charoset, greens, roasted egg, cause he stayed close and remained matzah, and a shank bone), that hold a faithful to God he was rewarded with special significance to the retelling of the Eternal Life.

During this time of Lent, let's continually encourage one another to fast from something that we feel hinders our closeness with God as we are reminded of Jesus' sacrifice for us.

What Is A Seder Meal?

Seder meal is a tradition that started in the Jewish community to celebrate Passover and the Jews redemption from Matthew 4:1-11 tells the story of Jesus bondage in the land of Egypt. As memexodus from Egypt. It is a special time for us to come together as a community of faith in great reflection to honor those that came before us while also looking ahead with great promise.

January in Review

On Thursday, January 11, a one-mile stretch of Adams Boulevard was dedicated as Rev. James Lawson Mile. The renaming, spearheaded by Councilwoman Heather Hutt and AFL-CIO President Yvonne Wheeler, brought together activists from across Los Angeles and representatives from several city agencies. Recalling the 1968 March on Washington, attendees strode behind a 1960s era bus on loan from L.A. Metro, singing freedom songs. The unveiling of a street sign bearing Rev. Lawson's name in front of Holman Church was followed by a screening of Rustin, in the sanctuary. The Pastor Emeritus admonished attendees that love is the only way to fight injustice during his jovial acknowledgement and re-dedication of the James Lawson Miracle Mile. We at Holman will go with the second dedication!

Community Voices

THANK YOU to ALL the Participants of the 2024 Count by Tori Bailey, MPH

Greater Los Angeles Homeless Count

his year we had 160 volunteers, which would have been more had the LAHSA registration not prematurely stopped our input at 75 then reopened access a few days before the event. We were assigned 49 tracks, which were 100% done!

The teams were assigned (unless they came teamed up already) and everyone enjoyed the camaraderie. We had officials, pastors, including our own Dr. Ken J. Walden, running mates, physicians, UNNC, and a multidimensional/cultural core of community persons with quite a few first timers.

Thanks to Ignited Light for hygiene items, toothbrushes and paste, chips, and cookies which were handed out and thanks to the BEST store manager, Mr.

Rickie, who not only thanked us for shopping in his Albertson's but gave bananas that nourished the volunteers and the Homeless as well who were ever so grate-ful.

For me, the coordinator, the process was smoother than ever partially due to the app. I made sure there were two techs to conduct my double check mechanism. So thank you to Bridge Over the Digital Divide, who allows our community to have computer classes, usage for free, low cost computer purchases and confidential e-waste of old computers for recycling.

Thank you again to all participants including our homemade chili maker, Aaron, and homemade chicken soup care of Jackie. To God be the Glory...until next year.

Back/Black to the Future by Don A. Norman

Dedicated to my grandson, Deon Sá, and my granddaughter Drew

We take a lot of things for granted. Flip a switch and (if the bill has been paid) the light goes on. When we arrive at an intersection, we are guided by three colored circles: the red, green, and blue of a traffic signal. Perhaps we board the Blue Line trolley or the subway. The reason why we don't stay at the stop or in the station is because the trolley and the third- rail connect to high-voltage electricity, permitting our trains to go. Then the airbrakes on these and on railroad cars bring us to a safe stop When we prepare to make a cake, pancakes, waffles, or a souffle, it's a given that a hand mixer or an electric one will beat the eggs. If something drops on the floor while we're cooking, a mop will clean it up. Anything we need to preserve goes into the refrigerator. If our invited dinner guests have to sleep over, some of us conveniently open a sofa into a folding bed.

While grownups go to work and get up and down floors on an elevator, their children do schoolwork keeping their #2s useable by inserting them into pencil sharpeners. The teacher checks their work using a fountain pen or a ball-point to affix the grades. And at the end of the school day some parents come to pick up their children while pushing a baby carriage. Meanwhile, all over the city and throughout the world, people keep in touch by using their portable cellular telephones.

So what is the best kept secret in the world? All the devices mentioned in bold type and those listed on the subsequent pages were conceived, invented, and patented by Black men and women. And this publication only mentions a small portion of African-American inventive achievements.

As to why these accomplishments have escaped the general public's view, many of the inventions were patented in the late 18001s when Blacks were denied access to the business world. They were hired by corporations and given obscure titles and back-room jobs but, due to company policy, had to turn over their patent rights to the firms. Thus, few consumers know that some things we use daily began as a concept in the minds of African - Americans.

Let's see what we've been missing:

We have only touched on a few achievements of dedicated Black men and women who never lived to see how much their inventions have shaped our lives. There are dozens of labor-saving, safety-related, and innovative devices that could not be documented here. I hope that what has been written on these pages will provide a different perspective on the contributions African-Americans have given to society. Let this publication be a starting point on educating the vast number of Americans who never had a clue.

Words of Appreciation

I would like to say thank you so very much to Holman's volunteer Fellowship Hour teams, ministers, Double Ring Club members, and individuals who faithfully take time out of their busy schedules to help serve refreshments for Holman's congregation, guests, and clergy and to keep Holman's kitchen clean.

Thanks, also, to our donors for supplying Fellowship Hour.

You are all a blessing.

In the Black with Melitta

Building Wealth in the Black Community

Melitta Johnson, MHA, grew up at Holman United Methodist Church. She is the daughter of Michael and Annie Stafford.

Mission: To increase wealth and share information in the Black community. melitta@melittajohnson.com

Purpose: To share bite-size chunks of information to increase wealth in the Black community through Real Estate. This information is for personal use or it can be shared with your loved ones.

In this season of love, we remain grateful for every single day of life. Thank you Lord!

What do you love about home ownership? What if there was a law that prohibited you from purchasing the properties that you love in the area(s) that you desire?

Consider this: prior to 1948, there were protective covenants that did not allow Black people to purchase homes in certain neighborhoods, including Crenshaw. Are you aware of the Shelley v. Kraemer case (1948)? In this important ruling, the U.S. The Supreme Court held restrictive covenants in real property deeds which prohibited the sale of property to noncaucasians unconstitutionally violated the equal protection provision of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The case ultimately decided that states could not prohibit the sale of a property based on race.

We have been afforded the legal ability to purchase homes anywhere. If you had the financial resources to purchase a home in any community, where would you buy?
